

COAL STRIKE PARTIALLY SETTLED THIS MORNING

Harding to Put Rail Strike Before Congress

MAY OFFER GOVT AID IN RUNNING TRAINS, REPORT

Has Abandoned Efforts to Mediate Troubles.

RAIL STRIKE SUMMARY

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Developments in the rail strike situation today included: President Harding having abandoned hopes of rail strike peace through mediation, is understood to be considering offering the protection of the government and its resources to the roads in operations of trains, and may go before Congress with a statement on the rail situation.

Chairman of "Big Four" brotherhoods continue conferences in Washington over shop crafts' strike.

Trains stranded in west by walkout of train service men being moved.

Minor incidents of violence reported in different parts of the country in connection with strike.

Washington, Aug. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—President Harding will place the rail strike situation before Congress and before the country within 48 hours, it was officially announced today at the White House.

His announcement came after the President had conferred on the strike situation with his cabinet and with leaders in congress and after railroad union organizations had made public their rejection of the President's last settlement proposal together with the statement that chiefs of the non-striking unions planned to continue their efforts at mediation of the rail controversy.

The administration spokesman who made known the President's purpose declared there was "no ground for the executive to stand upon in advancing any further proposition" for settlement of the railroad strike, other than those which have already laid before the management and representatives of the workmen now striking.

The impression prevailed among the President's advisers that he would, in his statement to congress and through congress to the country, make no suggestions as to legislation but the administration spokesman said that depended on the events that occur within the brief time before he speaks.

TO OFFER GOVT. AID

Washington, Aug. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—President Harding having abandoned all efforts at mediation of the rail strike, was declared today by his advisers to have virtually decided to inform the railroad executives of the country that in the operation of trains, they would be given the full protection and aid of the government.

The President, it was stated, has determined that the only course the government now could pursue was the path it followed in the coal strike—extension of an invitation to the employers to operate their properties, and the federal government with the cooperation of the states would stand behind them in their efforts so far as they are directed to the serving of the public.

Washington, Aug. 15.—Visible activities here in the rail strike situation were confined today to continuation of the mediation efforts of the chairman of the "Big Four" brotherhoods organizations in whose hands the striking shop crafts have placed their case.

These chairmen, who late yesterday spent more than two hours in conference with President Harding, in which it was declared a "whole basketful of propositions were discussed," this morning, again went into conference with representatives of the striking unions, but what the next development would be was still purely a matter of speculation.

The only hint as to what might be expected came from L. E. Sheppard, president of the conductors' brotherhood and union chiefs, who said one of the matters to be considered today would be whether the labor men would

SEEK NAMES OF ALL WHO HEARD GREAT DEBATE

To Be Honor Guests at Celebration at Freeport, 26th.

How many Lee county people are there now living, who heard the famous Lincoln-Douglas debate at Freeport in August, 1858? The Telegraph knows of a few, and seeks the names of all.

Every man or woman who was in the crowd at Freeport on that memorable day is invited to be a guest of honor on the speakers' platform at Freeport on Saturday, Aug. 26, this year, when a great celebration of the anniversary of the event will be held. A committee has been formed in Dixon, composed of men who had the Lincoln-Douglas debate. They are C. H. Noble and A. C. Warner, George B. Shaw, editor of The Evening Telegraph, has been appointed secretary of the committee and the committee asks that the names of all living Lee county residents who attended the debate in '58 be sent to the secretary at The Dixon Evening Telegraph office at once. Transportation will be furnished to take these people to the big celebration at Freeport.

Senator Pat Harrison of Missouri and Hon. Karl C. Schlyer of Colorado, two of the most famous orators of the nation, will be the "debators" of the day in Freeport. There will be a full day of celebration, including parades, etc.

Judge Heard Renders Decision in Record-Breaking Case Here

Judge Oscar E. Heard of Freeport, was in Dixon yesterday and handed down a decision in the case of Hungerford vs Behrens, which has set a record in local court annals. The decision handed down by Judge Heard held for the Hungerford's, the cross bill being dismissed. Attorneys H. C. Warner of this city and the law firm of Burke & Black of Peoria appeared for the Hungerford. Wirtick & Wirtick of Rochelle and John Erwin of this city appeared for Behrens. The case established a record in local court circles when 18 days were required in the taking of testimony. When this was completed, an adjournment was taken and when this was over, five days were required in presenting the arguments to the court.

Sterling Pastor to Big Beloit Church

Rev. H. A. Studebaker, pastor of the First Congregational church of Sterling, who has spoken at a number of functions in this city and who was platform manager at the recent conference of Illinois Congregational young people at the Assembly, has tendered his resignation, effective Sept. 1, to accept the pastorate of the Second Congregational church of Beloit, Wis., the largest in that city. Rev. Studebaker was one of the most popular and effective pastors in Sterling and his decision to leave the community has caused regret.

Veteran Conductor Suffers Broken Rib

"Jim" Wheat, formerly of Dixon, and for years conductor on the train known as the "Sterling passenger," is ill at his home, suffering from a fractured rib. The accident occurred several days ago when he fell against a seat chair as the train gave a jerk. He went to his home the next day and suffered to such an extent that it was necessary to have an X-ray picture taken. This showed the fracture. He is getting along nicely now.

CHRISTIANITY NEED OF WORLD IS THEME OF BRYAN'S ADDRESS

"Commoner" Delighted a Large Audience at R. Assembly.

(BY OFFICIAL REPORTER)
"I have the greatest subject that I have ever presented to an audience, in a campaign or out of it. The World's Greatest Need," began Hon. William Jennings Bryan last evening as he addressed great audience of interested men and women in the Assembly Auditorium. I will present five great problems and the only solution.

Taxation came first. The gulf between those with large and small incomes is greater than ever before. "I think is a serious thing that people cannot get together and discuss taxation without thinking of their own pocketbooks."

He touched on industrial problems, then on law enforcement, which he said is an entirely new issue. The minority has always acquiesced to the majority in this country, he said. When Prohibition had a larger majority than any President ever had, the minority would not admit defeat. The three-mile limit is an acute problem now, dealing with the distance that rum may come. There is talk of making it eighteen miles, one hundred would be better, and there should be no such line at all. No vessel should be allowed to steam toward our country with a cargo violating any law.

The profiteer stands between this country and prosperity, with a disjunct price level, although something has already been done for the farmer.

Disarmament Necessary
There are three outstanding facts about the World War—thirty millions of human lives lost, three hundred billions of property gone, and the debts of the world now over six times what they were when the first gun was fired. The world knows that war can never be abolished until the world is disarmed. Each conference will bring us a step nearer to the day that is coming when the song which startled the shepherds at Bethlehem is fulfilled.

The solution of these problems is the establishment on earth of God's law of reward. Everybody who lives is either an earner or a sponger. No man should collect from society more than he honestly earns, which should be the value of the service he gives to society. This would not necessarily limit any one to a small income. The average working life is thirty-three and one-third years. An average of fifteen millions per year is the highest known income. "A man can earn that much in politics, and if there, then he can anywhere else. Who can estimate the services of Thomas Jefferson and Abraham Lincoln?"

Then, in beautiful language, full of illustration, wit and sometimes a bit of pathos, he mentioned the discoverers of electricity, the telephone, phonograph, radio-phonograph, the gasoline engine which made possible the automobile and the flying machine, the ice machine, and the sewing machine. "It is possible to earn great things in any line of human effort."

How much for the services of Columbus, for the one who found a remedy for yellow fever and made possible the Panama Canal, for a cure of typhoid fever, for anesthetics? How much when Raikes started the Sunday School, Williams the Y. M. C. A., Francis E. Clark the Christian Endeavor Society, Frances Willard, the W. C. T. U. and the instruction about alcohol in the public schools? "Never in a single case did the person collect the full amount earned. Those who earned it have been so busy earning it that they did not have time to collect it and those who collected it were so busy collecting it that they did not have time to earn it. I know of nothing that will raise human effort to the maximum, as it will to assure one that he will draw from society exactly what he earns from it. No one should collect more than he earns, and because some do, there is not enough left to give the rest all they earn. If we can solve the problems of the world by the establishment of God's law of reward, then the greatest need today is to bring it about, and that is by getting back to God, which means loving Him, desiring to do His will, and therefore obeying Him. Nineteen hundred years ago a lawyer asked Christ the greatest commandment, and Christ answered 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God and thy neighbor as thyself.'"

Controlling Influences
There are five controlling influences of life: consciousness of God's presence, the most comforting influence, the most comforting influence, the most comforting influence.

TRAPPED! BY GUM!

FINANCIAL AFFAIRS OF UNIVERSAL OATS COMPANY ARE PROBED

Spirited Hearing Before Referee Held Here Yesterday.

Col. Fisher of Rockford, federal referee in bankruptcy, was in Dixon yesterday and in the County Court room yesterday afternoon presided at the hearing in the bankruptcy proceedings of the Universal Oats company. Several attorneys representing various interests were also present at the hearing. In the absence of Attorney St. John of Rockford, who is representing the bankrupt company, Attorney H. C. Warner of this city substituted. David R. Clark of Chicago was present as personal counsel for John A. Forrest, president of the defunct corporation at the time it entered bankruptcy. Attorney Redmond of Cedar Rapids represented the Cedar Rapids Grain company; Attorney E. H. Brewster of this city, the Dixon National bank and Attorneys Louis Rieger and Leo D. Shein of Chicago with A. G. Harris of this city, the stockholders.

The hearing opened at 1 o'clock and continued for more than two hours during which time six witnesses were examined. Attorney H. C. Warner was the first to take the stand and was followed by F. X. Newcomer, who a few weeks ago was appointed trustee of the bankrupt concern. The latter was questioned by the Chicago attorneys as to certain stock which he held in the Universal Oats company, and in reply to which, he answered that he had turned this over to his partner, H. E. Sennett in May of this year. This action qualified Mr. Newcomer to act as trustee.

Attorneys Clash.
At the conclusion of his testimony, some of the attorneys clashed when Attorney Warner asked Attorney Rieger who he and Mr. Sennett represented. He added that he believed that their becoming interested in the case had been done maliciously. Mr. Rieger answered that he had been retained in behalf of the clients because the interests of the banks and local attorneys appeared to be so interwoven, that outside counsel was necessary, and that this had been done with no view of casting any reflections.

GIRL FEIGNED SLEEP, WATCHED BURGLAR WORK

Former Polo Miss is Heroine of Terrifying Night.

The following from Saturday evening's Rockford Register-Gazette concerning the daughter of a former Polo preacher, well known here, will be of interest to the family's friends in this vicinity:

Did you ever lie in bed, with fear clutching your heart, sure that the noise you heard was made by a burglar?

Muriel Pierce, 14-year-old daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Pierce, not only knows what that feeling is but she knows now just how it feels to have a burglar enter her room, while she lay with her eyes closed, trying to make him believe she was asleep.

Shortly after 9 o'clock last night Muriel bid good night to two girl chums, who had spent the day with her as her parents had been attending a camp meeting. After the two girls departed Muriel locked the doors of the home, and took her little 4-year-old niece up to bed. As Muriel was saying her prayers she heard a short ring at the front door bell and later someone came in through the kitchen door. She leaped into bed and waited.

Steps were heard coming up the stairway. The intruder visited two bedrooms on the second floor and then walked into Muriel's room. Holding a flashlight in front of him he crept to the bed and touched the bed clothing while Muriel held her breath and her eyes closed, fearing he would seize her if he knew she was awake.

After ransacking drawers in the various dressers in the upstairs bedrooms an automobile horn sounded twice and he fled through the front door just as the Rev. Mr. Pierce entered the home through a rear door. It is believed the automobile horn was sounded by a confederate in an automobile in front of the home who warned the prowler of the approach of the minister.

Second Pigeon in Few Months Lights at Borden Factory

The second carrier pigeon to seek rest at the Borden milk factory in the last few months, alighted there yesterday and was taken in and given food by the employees. The bird bore the inscription "E. M. P. C. 222."

FIRST BIG RACES OF AMBOY FAIR SET FOR TOMORROW; BIG CARD

Some Great Track Events Are Assured; Hundred Horses on Ground.

Hundreds of children thronged the fair grounds at Amboy today, this marking the opening of the thirtieth annual Lee county fair. It was Children's Day and a program of events which kept the youngsters busy all afternoon proved the best that has ever been arranged for their entertainment. Races and contests with suitable prizes attracted the little ones from all parts of the county. Tomorrow opens the racing season at the fair grounds, the big feature which heads the program each year. More than a hundred head of racing horses are being stabled on the grounds and these will be entered in the racing events of Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Big Night Fair
The night fair will be an attraction through the week. All of the program of free acts is given each evening, featuring the display of fireworks. Dances at the fair grounds will be another attraction during the fair.

The entries for tomorrow afternoon's racing program are as follows:

2:24 Trot Elly Benton, A. L. Miller, Ohio. Stutz, E. C. Erwin, Pinkneyville. Hedge Thorn, F. M. Pearce, Dixon. Miss Kafir B. F. M. Pearce, Dixon. Emma Spere, Wm. Helm, Shabbona.

Saturday Dances at Pavilion Are Over

The Dixon men operating the dance pavilion at Central Park have announced that Saturday night dances are discontinued. The committee is making every possible effort to run the park in the best possible manner and have succeeded in a remarkable manner. The floor at the dance hall is especially fine and together with good music and careful management, the pavilion is becoming extremely popular over a wide radius of country.

COUNTY PICNIC FOR LEGION MEN BEING PLANNED

Committee Arranging for Great Gathering, Aug. 31st.

The commanders of all of the American Legion posts in Lee county at a recent meeting held at Lee Center decided to hold a county picnic on Thursday, Aug. 31. The picnic will be a stag affair for members of the American Legion posts in Lee county only. The place for holding the outing will be decided in a few days and as soon as this matter is disposed of, plans for the program of entertainment and a big feed will be started. The committee in charge, of which T. J. Miller, Jr., commander of Dixon post is chairman, has several sites in view which would be ideal for such an outing. A program of athletic sports and various entertainment features is being outlined and will be announced as soon as completed. It is estimated that there are about 800 Legion members in the county and an effort will be made to get out as large a gathering as possible at this picnic, which will be made an annual affair.

Honor Convicts Made Escape from Joliet

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 15.—Prison officials here are conducting a state wide search today for three honor convicts at the state prison farm who walked away last night.

The men were Leon G. Oberston, 41, of Cook county, serving a sentence of life for murder; Fred Burdick of Cook county serving a sentence of 1 to 20 years for burglary and Nick Prahlala of Winnebago county serving a sentence of 1 to 14 years for assault with intent to kill. Officials of the prison are working on the theory that the men may have had automobile accomplices awaiting at a nearby road who took them to Chicago.

Dixon Player Star of Sterling Bunch

In its account of Sunday's base ball game between Sterling and Morrison, at Morrison, which Sterling won 5 to 1, the Gazette of last evening says:

Joey Keenan was the outstanding star of the game. His one-handed catch of a line drive, which was labeled for a clean bingle, won him a big hand. Joey had a big day at the key-stone bag, having five putouts and four assists without a semblance of a bobble. He also wielded the big stick getting credit for three safe outs. It looks like Joey will be a fixture at the middle station for the remainder of the season.

California College Man Called to Dixon Brethren Congregation

The Dixon Church of the Brethren has extended a call to Rev. Walter C. Sell of LaVerne College, Calif., to assume the local pastorate, to succeed Rev. J. J. Johnson, whose resignation, effective Sept. 1, has been reluctantly accepted by the local congregation. Rev. Sell has accepted the call and will enter on his new duties in September.

Mississippi is Going to the Other Extreme

Alton, Ill., Aug. 14.—The Mississippi river, which several months ago caused much damage, because of its flooded condition, is so low at present that it cannot "empty" into Wood river, and the village of Woodriver near here, has been placed on short water rations for ten days. Dredgers are working night and day widening and deepening the mouth of Wood river, so as to permit the Mississippi to empty into it at any stage.

WAGE SCALE IS AGREED UPON AT CLEVELAND MEET

Entering Wedge in Tie Up of Mines Entered By Pact.

COAL STRIKE SUMMARY

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Developments today in the coal strike situation included: Wage scale agreement between miners and operators in conference at Cleveland expected to be signed today. Formal call for meeting tomorrow at Philadelphia between miners and anthracite operators to be issued today.

BULLETIN

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—An agreement ending the soft coal strike that has been in effect since April first, last, was unanimously approved by operators and miners in a joint conference here at 3:10 p. m. today. Signing of the agreement commenced immediately.

BULLETIN

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—There is not sufficient coal tonnage represented at the Cleveland conference to make any wage agreement effective. W. K. Kavanaugh, president of the coal operators' association of the 5th and 9th districts of Illinois, declared in a statement today.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Both operators and miners today ratified an agreement to bring partial settlement of the soft coal strike. Formal signing of the agreement went over until a joint conference this afternoon.

"The mine workers will go into the meeting with the operators prepared to execute a contract," President John L. Lewis said on adjournment of the miners meeting.

The Philadelphia conference of miners with anthracite operators set for tomorrow probably will be delayed until Thursday, it being expected that Mr. Lewis and other miners officials will be required to remain here to complete details of the soft coal settlement.

Call State Meetings

Under the agreement supplemental contracts between the miners district organizations and operators will be executed, and in line with this provision Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois miners, and John Hessler, president of the Indiana miners, announced they would ask the operators of those states to meet the union representatives in conference next Friday.

The Illinois meeting probably will be at Chicago and the Indiana meeting at Terre Haute.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—A wage scale was ready today for the signatures of soft coal operators and miners and prospects were that some mines would be open on Wednesday. Formal ratification was sent for the afternoon, the conference meeting together at 2 p. m. All details of the scale were approved in principle by both sides before the drafting of a tentative understanding which was described today by both sides as the entering wedge in the soft coal strike that began twenty weeks ago. Separate meetings of miners and operators were held this morning for voting final approval. "It is all a matter of procedure," President John L. Lewis said in referring to the delaying of actual ratification.

Showdown Monday

The settlement came after a week spent in marking time here by operators and miners. Finally, the showdown on the issue of compulsory arbitration.

IF I KNEW YOU AND YOU KNEW ME—

If I knew you and you knew me, This seldom we would disagree; But, never having yet clasped hands, Both often fail to understand That each intends to do what's right, And treat each other "honor bright." How little to complain there'd be If I knew you and you knew me.

If I knew you and you knew me— If both of us could clearly see, And with an inner sight divine The meaning of your heart and mine, I'm sure that we would differ less And clasp our hands in friendliness, Our thoughts would pleasantly agree If I knew you and you knew me.

MRS. HESS GAVE DINNER SUNDAY—

Mrs. R. R. Hess entertained at a birthday dinner Sunday. The dinner honored Geo. Coakley, who celebrated his 52nd birthday anniversary Sunday, and was a most enjoyable affair, the table decorations being garden flowers and ferns. The guests at the dinner included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mosher and family of Oregon; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kilday and daughter of Maricopa; Mr. and Mrs. George Coakley and Emmitt McGrath.

MISS VIOLET FLOTO ENTERTAINED FOR COUSINS—

Miss Violet Floto entertained at dinner Sunday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Floto, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rothe of Elgin, cousins of Miss Floto. Both Mr. and Mrs. Rothe teach school in Elgin. The attractive table decorations were daisies and gladioli. The guests beside Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rothe, of Elgin, were Mr. and Mrs. Roy McCleary, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCleary and children.

WERE ENTERTAINED AT JOHN FLORSCHUTZ HOME SUNDAY—

Mr. and Mrs. John Florschutz entertained at dinner at their home Sunday a company of guests, who arrived via auto. The guests included, Mr. and Mrs. John Fassig, Mrs. Carrie Johnson and son, Roy, of West Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kutter, of Mendota, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Florschutz and sons Max and Dale of Compton.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED—

You are always careful about your appearance and do not consider household an excuse for being untidy and unkempt. You provide yourself with neat house dresses and are as attractive in them as you are in more formal attire.

Then if you are taken unawares by the morning caller, you do not have to apologize for your untidiness or risk displeasure by refusing an appearance.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE—

When a woman of Dahomey marries, she takes upon herself other obligations than those of keeping up the home and getting three square meals a day.

She is presented with a muzzle-loading musket and put into military training. Thus if her inclinations are not Amazonian, she hesitates about accepting her suitor, regardless of the dictates of her heart.

WERE GUESTS AT THE MARKER COTTAGE SUNDAY—

ARE ENJOYING DELIGHTFUL FAMILY REUNION—

At the present time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blinn Smith on North Galena avenue, a family reunion of unusual interest is taking place. It is the reunion of the five Reager sisters, three of whom married brothers, and all three have celebrated their golden wedding anniversaries. Mrs. Blinn Smith is one of the sisters.

Blinn Smith entertained last Sunday at Myers Island for the members of his wife's family, (the Reager family) at a family reunion. Other relatives and friends were also present, numbering twenty-five in all. It was a very happy occasion and much enjoyed by all attending. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Bobb, Orangeville, Ill., who also entertained this same gathering recently at their home, (the event also celebrating Mrs. Bobb's 75th birthday anniversary); Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Bobb, Woodland, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bobb, Carthage, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. U. T. Folgate and son Raymond of Red Oak, Ill.; who also entertained this same gathering at their camp on the Peconica river, near Freeport, Ill.; Mrs. William Grigsby and daughter, Miss Ruby, Denver, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bobb, Madison, Wis.; Mrs. C. O. Folgate and daughter, Miss Kathryn, and Miss Coral Strom of Cedarville, Ill., and Attorney Dwight Bobb of Chicago. Dixon counts the Blinn Smith family among her most highly esteemed citizens.

We print the following clipping from the Orangeville Courier, of Orangeville, Ill., Aug. 11th, speaking of the family reunion, and it is doubly interesting because of the rarity of the event from every angle:

Friday, Aug. 4th, marked an eventful day in the life history of the five Reager sisters. At the residence of R. P. Bobb not only a reunion of the sisters, their families and friends was observed, but a celebration in behalf of Mrs. R. P. Bobb's 75th birthday also took place.

Mrs. Bobb is one of three Reager sisters that married three of the Bobb brothers over two and one-half score years ago and all have therefore celebrated their golden anniversary.

A beautiful and delicious birthday cake supporting 75 candles was presented by Mrs. Folgate, and according to an old custom of extinguishing the lighted candles, Mrs. Bobb did so in five attempts. It was therefore unanimously agreed that the celebration would be repeated in five years.

The Reager family came to Stephenson county in 1854 from Shaftstown, Pa., and settled on a farm near Buena Vista. The family grew up with the vigor and strength that promises a very old age. It is singular, owing to the usual fate of mankind, that even at the advanced age of the sisters that all are still spared to set forth their light of an exemplary life.

As to the Bobb family they also came from Pennsylvania in 1845 and settled near Orangeville, Ill. The three brothers above mentioned are still enjoying life's companionship with their chosen ones, and we hope that life will be prolonged for many years to come.

A beautiful day added much to a happy time experienced by the relatives and friends who were present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Bobb. Those who participated were: Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bobb, of Carthage, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bobb, of Woodland, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Blinn Smith, of Dixon, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Folgate and son Raymond Mrs. Jessie Folgate and daughter of Red Oak, Mr. and Mrs. Goff, Mr. and Mrs. Rolf, of Dixon; Mrs. Ida Grigsby and daughter, of Denver, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bobb, of Madison, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Bobb, Mrs. Jennie Belknap, Mrs. Lizzie Dorn, Rev. Kline and wife, of Orangeville.

W. C. T. U. TO MEET FRIDAY—

The W. C. T. U. will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. J. W. Watts, at her cottage at Assembly Park, promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

There is to be an election of officers and all members are urged to be present. There will be a scramble supper after the meeting and all members are requested to take their own dishes, silver and sandwiches and one generous article of food.

Late Season Deals

Will Be Forbidden

Chicago, Aug. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Late season deals by which clubs have been literally wrecked and pennant contenders strengthened through sales and trades of players, are doomed to go the way of the spit ball and other discarded customs of organized baseball, if National and American League magnates hold to the notions expressed at yesterday's confab with Commissioner K. M. Landis.

Although no changes in the rules will be made until the next annual meeting, sentiment among the club owners was so strong against late season transactions that revision of baseball code to advance the time limit on sales and trades between major league clubs are virtually assured when the baseball laws are overhauled.

Criticism of late season transactions reached its most intense stage recently following deals between the pennant contending New York Yankees, American League Champions and the tail-end Boston Red Sox.

Action on the barnstorming rules, revision of which was the main purpose of yesterday's meeting requires that a player's application to participate in exhibition games at the close of the season be accompanied by the written consent of his club.

IS THIS YOU?

What is "the average American"?
Like? Politicians talk about him.
Newspapers write about him. Psychologists hold him up as a sort of phantom in their shadow-boxing.

The average American man is 5 feet 7½ inches tall.

He weighs 141½ pounds.

This is announced by Maj. Gen.
Meritt W. Ireland, surgeon general of the army, after studying the records of 1,000,000 who were examined for service in the last war.

How close are you to the average?
The shortest American men are in Rhode Island. The tallest are in Texas and the mountains of North Carolina. Even at that, they average only about an inch above or below "the average American."

South Dakota men averaged heavier than any other state's. Rhode Island men were the lightest. The two groups varied only five pounds above and below normal.

Out of each 100 city men examined or the army, 61 physical defects were found. The figure was only 53 for the farm boys. This confirms what you already know—that health is in the country, close to the soil.

A fifth of the Class One men were found physically unfit for military service in the field or for home duty.
This is a very serious handicap for the next generation, as yet unborn—for, while few physical defects are inherited, the weakness or tendency toward a physical defect is definitely known to be liable to be passed on from father to son.

Kansas averaged highest of all the states for physical specimens. Rhode Island was at the foot of the list.

Three out of each 200 men examined were rejected for mental defects—inadequacies or abnormalities. On this basis, at least 1,500,000 Americans have hopelessly inferior brains, some of them of the vegetable type.

Millions of bits of valuable information, each leading to an important and helpful deduction, can be drawn from Ireland's analysis of "the average American."

Of all these, the most important are:

1. The need of greater health education and exercise.
2. The need of more intensified education for those whose brains are below normal.
3. The urgent wisdom of cautiously considering the physical and mental health of an intended mate, before marriage.

A CHINESE SCHEME

The largest secret society in the world is said to be disbanding. It is a Chinese organization, understood to have at least 100,000,000 members.
Its name, translated, is "The Save-the-Nation-and-Weep Society."

This gigantic confederation enforced the Chinese boycott against Japanese goods. It was China's way of making Japan leave her alone.

Whenever a Chinese merchant placed dollars above patriotism and persisted in selling Japanese wares, contrary to the boycott, a small mob of the secret society gathered at the shop door, fell on its knees and began wailing and moaning.

You can imagine how long a shopkeeper was able to withstand that kind of assault.

Japan is "getting out" of China, slowly, but inevitably. The boycott was successful. It made hard times in Japan. For China is one of Japan's big customers.

The peaceful boycott probably was more effective than would have been an army of several million troops.

The day may come when the trade boycott will take the place of armies, navies and flying squadrons.

A nation would think twice before going on the warpath with a certainty that it would be punished by economic isolation.

China is "in a bad way" right now, committing the worst form of self-destruction—civil war.

But before many years have passed, education, science and exploiting foreigners will make China a mighty world power.

The Chinese are interesting now.
They will become increasingly interesting as they flower again to a virile civilization.

It will be interesting to watch the effect as the white man's ways come in contact with the peculiar and mysterious psychology of the Chinese.
They write backwards and—to us—seem to do everything else the same way.

But they have many ideas worth copying. Ultimately the white race and the yellow race will borrow ideas from each other and blend their philosophies.

REMARKABLE

A woman who is a grandmother at the age of 33 draws attention to reunion of the Platter family in North Adams, Mass.

It is an interesting case, but no one would pay any attention to it in China, where girls often are grandmothers at 20.

News is anything that departs from the normal or usual. Human nature likes exceptions, not generalities.

DANGER

The danger ages for girls are 16 and 17, says Maude E. Miner, secretary of an association that checks up such things.

A good many of our modern problems are due to unfair economic conditions that compel boys and girls to go to work too soon.

Every girl should remain at home until she is 18. And no boy should have to quit school until at least 20.
The industrial system, however, tries to get them shortly after they learn to walk. Civilization shortens youth.

KEY

Galsworthy, international writer, says Maupassant, "taught writers what to leave out."

O. Henry was the same. His fame depends as much on what is left out as what he wrote.

The principle applies to most lives.
The things we don't do are as important as the things we do. Success is easy for the person who develops judgment that enables him to omit futile effort. Some of the greatest successes are chronically lazy.

CANADA

G. H. Loeck, British industrial expert, is worried about this: "Six hundred branch factories have been established in Canada by United States firms, as compared with 20 British. United States factories are springing up in Canada at the rate of one a week."

To anyone with vision, this is better than a ouija board for forecasting Canada's future.

EMBALMED

Movies, showing the white-haired ex-kaiser sawing wood, are exhibited in the ballroom of a New York hotel.
It is a private affair, but people with more money than brains can get in for $10 a head.

The film, however, will be historically important, as centuries slip by.
Movies of Napoleon, at the height of his power or in captivity would be invaluable now.

The ancient Egyptians made mummies. We moderns embalm our celebrities in the celluloid movie film.
It is more lasting, projects a reflection of lives—virtually forever.

CENSORS

A campaign is started to censor the manuscripts of writers who skate on thin sex-ice. John S. Sumner, secretary of the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice, makes the announcement. Some publishers are said to have agreed, and it looks like business.

The censorship is badly needed.
But the root of the evil will not be gotten to until a way is devised to censor the emotional appetites of fiction readers. They support the traffic. Like prohibition—the real problem is the drinker, not the drink.

ICONOCLASTIC

The pores of your skin are never closed, says the New York Medical Journal. It brands as nonsense the notion that the condition of the pores is responsible for contraction of infections like colds. For years we have been talking about "opening and closing the pores." It doesn't mean anything, according to his-tologists, the pores being always open.

All this is typical of the iconoclas-

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

HOW DUCKBILL GOT JEALOUS

It swam gracefully about, spreading its wings and folding them again promptly.

Mr. Waggetail Duckbill was out for a walk. He stopped every now and then to gobble up something to eat.
Then he would go on again.

Mr. Duckbill was feeling fine and very happy. He even hummed a little tune:

"A frog he would a-wooloo go Whether his Mammy would let him or no,
Hi umpty larum a diddle oh!"

He stopped and ate a beetle.
Then he went on and sang his song all over again.

"A frog he would a-wooloo go,"
and so on.

This time he stopped and ate a mosquito.

He hummed another line and stopped to eat a white grub.

He'd eaten a fuzzy worm, a bee, a rain-toad and a grasshopper when he spied a lovely white creature with a long neck away out on Lily Pond.
It swam gracefully about, spreading its wings and folding them again promptly.

"H'm!" said Mr. Duckbill, looking awhile and then gazing thoughtfully at his own reflection in the water.
"I wonder why I have such a short neck, and no wings to speak of!"

Then he went on with his walk and his song.

By and by he saw a pony in a field waving his fine, long tail about to chase the flies away.

"H'm!" said Mr. Duckbill again.
"What a fine tail! I wonder why I have such a stubby one!"

He went on with his walk again, and his song.

"Goodness! What a fine pair of legs that bird has! That must be Mr.
Crane. I wonder why I have such ugly, short legs!"

This time he went on with his walk, but not his song.

"How do you do this fine morning?" said Dr. Snuffles, passing by.

"Rotten!" grumbled Mr. Duckbill.
"I'm going home and go to bed!"
Jealousy, my dears, is the worst disease there is.

MODERN WIFE

By Berton Braley

SHE doesn't darn her husband's socks or mend her husband's clothes.
The thought of washing dishes is a thought she deeply loathes;
She loves dance and frivol and her gowns are very smart.
She's an excellent example of the modiste's cunning art.
She wants the best of everything and nearly always gets it;
It makes her husband hustle, but it's seldom he regrets it.
For she pushes him and drives him through the struggle and the stress,
Till his feet are firmly planted on the highway of success.

SHE keeps her youthful figure and retains her youthful pep,
And her husband has to hurry if he wants to keep in step;
She isn't any household drudge, she doesn't do the wash
And when folks talk of "settling down" she gaily answers, "Bosh!"
But—she knows her husband's business and the ins and outs thereof.
She's a helpmate and a partner who can THINK as well as love.
And she lifts him and she spurs him and she fills him full of verve,
And she keeps him young as she is—young in body, brain and nerve.

SHE'S no slave to home or children, but the "good old-fashioned wife"
Never raised up better offspring in her dull and humdrum life.
Look 'em over, doubting critics, at their study or their play,
They can knock the spots off youngsters raised the good old-fashioned way.

And the Modern Wife adores them, but she doesn't prove the fact
By forever interfering with the way they think and act.
She is more a pal than parent, she's her husband's buddy, too,
She's a first-class wife and mother and a Sportsman, through and through.

DEBT

"Mortgage the future," seems to be the policy of most people. Cities, also. So far this year, about $350,- 000,000 of municipal bonds have been floated.

It should interest taxpayer-voters to know that the average city is borrowing $84 for each $25 borrowed in 1913. The politicians will have us in the poor house unless we wake up.

Gov. Lynn J. Frazier, who defeated McCumber for the North Dakota

he will join the farm bloc, states that his "nomination was due to the re-an interesting conundrum.

Possibly some of the improvement in business conditions is due to frightened war grafters spending money freely while they're free.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

Today's word is—DECALOGUE.
It's pronounced—dek-a-log, with accent on the first syllable.

It means—the Ten Commandments given by God to Moses (Exodus 20:1-18) on Mount Sinai.

It comes from—two Greek words, meaning respectively "ten" and
"speech, to speak, to say."

It's used like this—"Considering how many things there are to do that the Decalogue doesn't mention, it's surprising what a preference most people show for the acts this famous code prohibits."

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well.

HOW ABOUT WATER?

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP

Despite anything anti-dry forces may say against it, drinking water is a mighty necessary adjunct to good health. Few people drink enough of it. There are lots of heavy eaters, but few heavy water drinkers.

There is a time for drinking water just as for everything else. The person who is fighting fat should avoid drinking at meals, because the food is washed down too easily and one over-eats almost unconsciously.
The sufferer from acid stomach should not drink immediately after eating, or, in fact, until digestion is well started. Although water is an aid to digestion, if taken in excess, it will cause an excessive flow of gastric acid.

To be sure of enough water to keep the body in a normal condition one should drink at certain times during the day. When the business man has finished opening his morning mail, he would do well to swallow a glass of water. Again, in mid-afternoon, he should take a umbriferous. If a glass is taken upon rising and another just before retiring, this will meet the day's requirements, providing, of course, that some is drunk at meal time.

Fruits contain a good deal of water.
So do sherbets, gelatins, soups, pota-

Type 61 Achieves Greatest Success in Cadillac History

IT was almost inevitable that Type 61 should bear out its reputation as the greatest Cadillac by establishing a remarkable sales record.

That much was apparent immediately following its introduction, when Type 61 enjoyed a reception such as is seldom accorded an automobile.

But in the last few months this initial enthusiasm for the new Cadillac quickened to a demand that was little short of phenomenal.

Seemingly the entire public had become intensely aware of Type 61 superiority, and sales attained a volume which promised to surpass all previous Cadillac records.

As month followed month, and the unprecedented demand for Type 61 increased, that promise became a fact and a certainty.

Now with the figures compiled, it is possible to announce that Cadillac in 1922 has achieved the greatest success in all its history.

We believe that this unparalleled advance in Cadillac-business, and the continuing vogue of Type 61 among buyers of high grade-cars, can mean but one thing:

It signifies that the public considers Type 61 the greatest motor car value in the world.

porated in 1920 with a capital stock when incorporated of 5,000 shares at $50 per share, all of this being common stock and having no par value. On January 1, 1922, he said the same amount of common stock was held with $100,000 of preferred stock.

"We started with $250,000 capital stock," said Mr. Forrest in reviewing the active life of the company, "and then purchased the Ort property for $80,000. We also built the large concrete building and then issued $100,000 of preferred stock. The sales were running large but we were delayed four months in getting our packages out. We lost money under operation and had no cost system. I was devoting my entire time to the construction work and had no office system or method of keeping account of the costs."

In reply to a question put by Attorney Warner in which he asked Mr. Forrest to relate some of the things which caused heavy financial losses, the latter replied:

Loss When Oats Dropped.
"We had one contract with the Cedar Rapids Grain company for oats, which was covered by sales on rolled oats. The four months delay caused the cancellation of our rolled oats contracts in many instances. We had contracted for 300,000 bushels of oats at about 32 cents per bushel and before the contract closed oats had dropped to approximately 30 cents. The delay in construction activities caused the cancellation of the rolled oats contracts, for which we held a sufficient quantity to cover the amounts of oats purchased."

"Ordinarily it required 10 bushels of oats to make one barrel of rolled oats but the light yield of the 1920 crop required from 15 to 18 bushels. Another marked loss was brought on when the offfall became valueless and was burned. The offfall, which consisted of the husks and chaff, formerly sold for $12 a ton in Chicago and was used in making dairy and stock feeds, principally in the eastern states. The price of bags dropped approximately 50 per cent or a loss of about $20,000 in 1921. We also had a contract for the National Oats company for feed and up to Jan. 1 of this year experienced losses amounting to approximately $7,000 in this line. After January, however, the price of this feed came back and has been normal since. Worth $300,000."

"The plant was built along the most modern lines and the machinery throughout was high priced. The rolled oats plant had a capacity of 600 barrels and was of the most modern construction possible. The new feed plant cost about $30,000 and the machinery throughout the building about $250,000 with the installation. It can not be duplicated for $275,000 to $300,000. At the present time, I doubt, if it would sell for more than half of this amount. The season of 1920-21 was one of the worst in the history of the rolled oats industry, because of the light yield of oats and the feed having no value."

On cross-examination, conducted by Attorney Rieger, Mr. Forrest said:

"I borrowed money on my own personal collateral. Previous to 1922 I borrowed some in Clinton, Iowa, and some in Chicago. I put up $12,000 to $15,000 worth of stock owned by myself in the Dixon Water company and also Liberty Bonds. In all I believe to the best of my recollection, I borrowed about $30,000 in drafts back and forth on shipments and a series of loans used in the business."

Gave Trust Deed.
"I executed a trust deed in January, 1922, to George Dixon for approximately $175,000 to clear up notes and to be used in carrying on the business of the company. I did this to protect myself and to secure a working capital and did not at that time consider the company insolvent. Some of my obligations were past due at the time. The first six months after we were incorporated there was one dividend of 1 per cent of which three per cent was paid, this being the only dividend declared."

WORKING GIRLS LOOK HERE

Read what Mrs. Lucas Writes Concerning Her Troubles, which May be Just Like Yours

St. Louis, Mo.—"I had troubles that all women are apt to have, with pains in my back, weak, tired, nervous feelings and a weak stomach. I had been this way about a year and was unable to work or stand and my feet for any length of time. My husband's aunt told me how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done her and begged me to try it, so I did. All my pains and weaknesses are gone, my stomach is all right and I do my work at home and also work for Swift's Packing Company. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends and you may publish my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. LULU LUCAS, 719A Vandeventer St., St. Louis, Mo.

Again and again one woman tells another of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. You who work must keep yourself strong and well. You can't work if you are suffering from such troubles. Mrs. Lucas couldn't. She tried our Vegetable Compound and her letter tells you what it did for her. Give it a fair trial now.

was brought out in response to questions put by Attorney Rieger in the cross-examination.

Gilbert Was Not Active.
W. W. Gilbert, formerly vice president of the company in answer to questions put to him by Attorney Rieger with reference to the manner in which the large sums of money were expended, said: "The plant was overbuilt from the start and there was not enough for working capital." He also stated that as he recalled the books showed a shortage of funds but added that he was not active in the concern.

Bookkeeper Knew Nothing.
D. D. Slocum of Clinton, Iowa, former bookkeeper said that he had partial charge of the books, but on cross-examination, stated that he knew nothing of the financial condition of the concern prior to its entering bankruptcy. Attorney Warner introduced a typewritten list of creditors, which he presented to Mr. Slocum to be identified as a partial list of creditors taken from the books of the concern. When Mr. Slocum stated that he could not identify the exhibit as the one drawn up by him, and that certain pencil marks which appeared on the pages were not his, the exhibit was withdrawn.

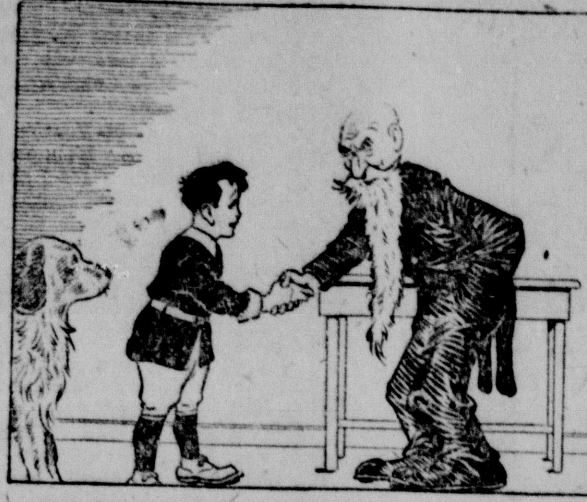

F. J. Roshbrook, who in the last months of the life of the company, acted as head of the feed buying and sales department, was the last witness to be examined and no new facts were brought out by him.

There were only a very few stockholders present at the preliminary hearing which was of short duration. The different attorneys were granted leave to file bills with the referee in bankruptcy and the case will again be taken up at a later hearing to be held probably in the month of September.

Suggests Special Farm Paper Discount

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Aug. 15.—Establishment of a special discount rate of 3 1/2% on agricultural papers is under consideration by the Federal Reserve Board, officials said today. The proposal has been laid before the federal reserve banks, it was explained, and action by the board is being withheld pending their replies, although officials indicated, the suggestion was not meeting with favor generally.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES

JACK SHOOK HANDS HEARTILY WITH THE OLD MAN, WHO WAS GLAD TO MEET A REAL FRIEND AFTER BEING AWAY FROM HOME SO LONG. THEN THE OLD MAN INVITED HIM TO STAY AWHILE.

THE LITTLE ADVENTURER PROMISED TO STAY FOR A SHORT TIME. THE OLD MAN HAD TO GO TO HIS LABORATORY UP IN THE MOUNTAINS, SO ASKED JACK TO GO ALONG.

A PRETTY SPY MAN THOUGHT JACK, WHEN THE OLD FELLOW BEAT JACK TO THE TOP AND THEN HAD TO HELP HIM OVER. FAITHFUL FLIP FOLLOWED SLOWLY ALONG BEHIND.

WHEN THEY REACHED THE LABORATORY JACK WATCHED THE OLD MAN MIX UP HIS CHEMICALS. SUDDENLY A BEAR'S HEAD APPEARED OVER THE HILL TOP. THEN—CONTINUED IN THE NEXT CHAPTER.

Friends Made Glad

One of them had this to say yesterday: "We never thought that poor Ellen would ever recover, she had suffered so long from stomach and liver trouble and had lost more than 40 pounds in weight. She took a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy upon the advice of her aunt and has steadily improved from the first dose. We are all confident of her complete recovery." It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and lays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Farm Bureau Man Defends Ford Offer

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Aug. 15.—Replying to criticism by Senator Harrell, of Oklahoma, and other members of congress that Henry Ford, in his proposed contract for taking over the Muscle Shoals project does not guarantee to manufacture fertilizer. Gray

Silver, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, today wrote them calling attention to section 15 of the Ford offer, which he quotes as stating that "the manufacture, sale and distribution of commercial fertilizers constitute one of the principal considerations of this offer."

Mr. Silver declared this is the most important provision in the contract and one the violation of which provides grounds for the institution of proceedings by the Attorney General to cancel the entire lease.

"Not only does Mr. Ford guarantee to manufacture fertilizer but he states that he will make 40,000 tons of nitrogen, equal to one-fifth of our total annual consumption in fertilizer and he will do so with the most economical power available,"

Mr. Silver's letter said.

HURRICANE'S GAL

It Makes Thrills Thrill!

A drama of seamen—of life, love, lure in tropic zones and San Francisco's underworld.

8 Great Reels of Strife, of Storm, of Romance, of the Things You Haven't Seen Pictured Like This Before.

Those of our patrons—and that probably includes all—who saw "Man—Woman—Marriage," produced by Allen Holubar and starring Dorothy Phillips, will be delighted to hear that the Dixon Theatre will present Wednesday and Thursday another production in which this talented pair figures.

The picture is "Hurricane's Gal," and it is one which we can recommend unreservedly. It is a wholesome story of romance and adventure, most of the action taking place at sea, with Miss Phillips in the role of the captain of a smuggling ship, and just as stern and harsh with the crew as was her father, from whom she inherited the ship.

"Hurricane's Gal" is so absorbingly interesting and so loaded with a rapid succession of pulse quickening situations that it will appeal to all types of motion picture fans, and especially those who love stories of the great outdoors—stories that are all action, plausible and logical. The sea scenes, with hydroplanes, destroyers and schooners in the action, will thrill you to the core.

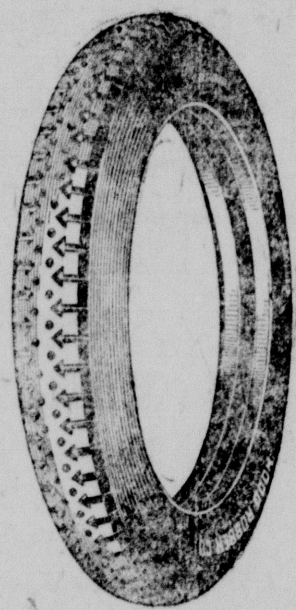

"Hurricane's Gal" is a First National attraction—and all of you know that First National means the best and all that the screen can give. The supporting cast includes such favorites as Robert Ellis, Wallace Beery, James O. Barrows, Gertrude Astor, Jack Donovan and Frances Raymond.

The RED HOUSE MYSTERY

by A.A. MILNE

Antony tried to put himself in Cayley's place—Cayley, when Antony had first discovered him, hammering at the door and crying, "Let me in!" Whatever had happened inside the office, whoever had killed Robert, Cayley knew all about it, and knew that Mark was not inside, and had not escaped by the window. But it was necessary to Cayley's plans—to Mark's plans if they were acting in concert—that he should be thought to have escaped. At some time, then, while he was hammering (the key in his pocket) at the locked door, he must suddenly have remembered—with what a shock!—that a mistake had been made. A window had not been left open!

And then Antony's sudden appearance. Here was a complication. And Antony suggesting that they should try the window! Why, the window was just what he wanted to avoid. No wonder he had seemed dazed at first.

Ah, and here at last was the explanation why they had gone the longest way round—and yet run. It was Cayley's only chance of getting a start on Antony, of getting to the window first, of working them open somehow before Antony caught him up. Even if that were impossible, he must get there first, just to make sure.

So he had run. But Antony had kept up with him. They had broken in the window together, and gone into the office. But Cayley was not done yet. There was the dressing-room window! Quietly, quietly, Antony must hear.

And Antony didn't hear. Indeed, he had played up to Cayley splendidly. Not only had he called attention to the open window, but he had carefully explained to Cayley why Mark had chosen this particular window in preference to the office window. And Cayley had agreed that probably that was the reason. How he must have chuckled to himself! They were outside on the lawn again now, Bill and Antony, and Bill was listening openmouthed to his friend's theory of yesterday's happenings. It only gave them another mystery to solve.

"What's that?" said Antony. "Mark. Where's Mark? If he never went into the office at all, then where is he now?"

"I don't say that he never went into the office. In fact, he must have gone. Elsie heard him." He stopped and repeated slowly, "She heard him—at least she says she did. But if he was there, he came out again by the door."

"Well, but where does that lead you?"

"Where it led Mark. The passage. 'Do you mean that he's been hiding there all the time?'"

Antony was silent until Bill had repeated his question, and then with an effort he came out of his thoughts and answered him.

"We'd better make certain. Could you be a sleuth-hound, Bill—one of those that travel on their stomachs very nosily?"

"I mean, could you get near enough to the pond to make sure that Cayley is still there, without letting him see you?"

"Rather!" He got up eagerly. "You wait."

Antony's head shot up suddenly. "Why, that was what Mark said," he cried.

"Mark? What Elsie heard him say?"

"Oh, that."

"Yes... I suppose she couldn't have made a mistake, Bill? She did hear him."

"She couldn't have mistaken his voice, if that's what you mean."

"Oh?"

"Mark had an extraordinary characteristic voice."

"Oh?"

"Rather high-pitched, you know, and—well, one can't explain, but—"

"Yes?"

"GOOD LORD!" SAID BILL, TURNING ROUND WITH A START, "CAYLEY!"

It some new color, some new gleam of light reflected, and yet never really seeing the spot as a whole. His brain could not get hold of it.

But there were moments when he almost had it... and then turned away from it. He had seen more of life than Bill, but he had never seen murder before, and this which was in his mind now, and to which he was afraid to listen, was not just the hot-blooded killing which any man may come to if he lose control. It was something much more horrible. Too horrible to be true. Then let him look again for the truth. He looked again—but it was all out of focus.

CHAPTER XIV

BILL had come back, and had reported, rather breathless, that Cayley was still at the pond. They stood in front of the row of sermons. Antony took down the Reverend Theodore Usher's famous volume, and felt for the spring. Bill pulled. The shelves swung open toward them.

"By Jove!" said Bill, "it is a narrow way."

There was an opening about a yard square in front of them, which had something the look of a brick fireplace, a fireplace raised about two feet from the ground. But, save for one row of bricks in front, the floor of it was emptiness. Antony took a torch from his pocket and flashed it down into the blackness.

"Look," he whispered to the eager Bill. "The steps begin down there. Six feet down."

He flashed his torch up again. There was a handhold of iron, a sort of large iron staple, in the bricks in front of them.

"You swing off from there," said Bill. "At least, I suppose you do. I wonder how Ruth Norris liked doing it."

"Cayley helped her. I should think... it's funny."

"Shall I go first?"

Antony shook his head with a smile.

Just the Cubs won their third straight from the Cardinals, 8-6; and sent the St. Louisians still farther away from the leading Giants.

Jess Winters held the Pirate bat- ters in check while his brethren bunched Glazner and Carlson for 13 hits and 10 runs. Score: Phillies 10; Pirates 1.

The Cubs regained third place in the National League race by taking their third straight victory from the St. Louis Cardinals, while the Pirates lost to the Phillies.

Pitcher Barefoot, who relieved Haines for the Cardinals, had a perfect day at bat, with three hits in as many trips to the plate.

The Test

"I think I will, if you don't mind very much, Bill." "Right," he said. "Go on." "Well, we'll just make sure we can get back again, first. It really wouldn't be fair on the Inspector if we got stuck down here for the rest of our lives. He's got enough to do trying to find Mark, but if he has to find you and me as well—"

Antony sat down on the ledge of bricks, swung his feet over, and sat there for a moment, his legs dangling. He flashed his torch into the darkness again, so as to make sure where the steps began; then returned it to his pocket, seized the staple in front of him and swung himself down. His feet touched the steps beneath him, and he let go.

"Is it all right?" said Bill anxiously. "All right. I'll just go down to the bottom of the steps and back. Stay there."

The light shone down by his feet. His head began to disappear. For a little while Bill, craning down the opening, could still see faint splashes of light, and could hear slow uncertain footsteps; for a little longer he could fancy that he saw and heard them; then he was alone.

Well, not quite alone. There was a sudden voice in the hall outside. "Good Lord!" said Bill, turning round with a start, "Cayley!"

If he was not so quick in thought as Antony, he was quick enough in action. Thought was not demanded now. To close the secret door safely but noisily, to make sure that the books were in the right places, to move away to another row of shelves—the difficulty was not to decide what to do, but to do all this in five seconds rather than in six.

"Ah, there you are," said Cayley from the doorway.

"Hallo!" said Bill, in surprise, looking up from the fourth volume of "The Life and Works of Samuel Taylor Coleridge." "Have they finished?"

"Finished what?"

"The pond," said Bill, wondering why he was reading Coleridge on such a fine afternoon. Desperately he tried to think of a good reason... verifying a quotation—an argument with Antony—that would do. But what quotation?

"Oh, no. They're still at it. Where's Gillingham?"

"The Ancient Mariner"—water, water, everywhere—or was that something else? And where was Gillingham? Water, water everywhere—

"Tony? Oh, he's about somewhere. They aren't finding anything at the pond, are they?"

"No. But they like doing it. Something off their minds when they can say they've done it."

"Bill, deep in his book, looked up and said 'Yes,' and went back to it again. He was just getting to the place."

"What's the book?" said Cayley, coming up to him. Out of the corner of his eye he glanced at the shelf of sermons as he came. Bill saw that glance and wondered. Was there anything there to give away the secret?

"I was just looking up a quotation," he drawled. "Tony and I had a bet about it. You know that thing—about—er—water, water everywhere, and—er—not a drop to drink." (But what on earth, he wondered to himself, were they betting about?)

"Nor any drop to drink," to be accurate.

Bill looked at him in surprise. Then a happy smile came on his face. "Quite sure?" he said. "Of course."

"Then you've saved me a lot of trouble. That's what the bet was about." He closed the book with a slam, put it back in its shelf, and began to feel for his pipe and tobacco.

"I was a fool to bet with Tony," he added. "He always knows that sort of thing."

So far, so good. But here was Cayley still in the library, and there was Antony, all unsuspecting. In the passage. When Antony came back he would not be surprised to find the door closed, because the whole object of his going had been to see if he could open it easily from the inside. At any moment, then, the bookshelf might swing back and show Antony's head in the gap. A nice surprise for Cayley!

ROCHELLE SCHOOL IS BEING PREPARED FOR OPENING NEXT MONTH

New Walks and Driveway Being Constructed at Township School.

ROCHELLE.—A drive and cement walks are being laid at the township high school in preparation for the re-opening of school in September. S. S. Swasey left Wednesday afternoon for Terra Haute, Ind., on a business trip for the George D. Whitcomb Co.

Work on the A. A. Phelps & Son hardware store on Lincoln Highway is nearing completion. The new store front has been placed into position and the interior is in the hands of decorators. It is estimated that it will take 3 or 4 weeks to complete the work and for the firm to move into its new quarters.

Miss Olive Menz has returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson and son at Ohio, Ill., and her friend, Miss Josephine Nichols returned home with her from Dixon for a visit.

To encourage juvenile trade Managers Berve and Allebach of the Majestic Theater presented each youngster with a sucker at the matinee. Freckles Berry in Penrod, Wednesday afternoon.

Alvin Countryman, a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Countryman, is carrying his arm in a sling, as the result of a fall in which he fractured a small bone in his right wrist.

Leslie Ogle is supplying an shipping clerk at the George D. Whitcomb Co., during the vacation of Herman O'Brien.

Perhaps Chief of Police Ambrose D. Hodges would run true to the nursery rhyme of "having four and twenty black birds baked in a pie," for he went gunning for black birds which flock in great number to the trees on the George E. Stocking estate on Eleventh street, Tuesday night. The chief blazed away a shot gun and the sky was black with the startled birds scared from their rookery. Mr. Hodges lives just across the street and it makes fine shooting practice for the guardian of the law.

H. G. Troop went to LaSalle Tuesday afternoon, on an installation job for the George D. Whitcomb Co.

Dancer's Suit for Million Was Filed

Ballston, Spa, N. Y., Aug. 14.—The complaint in an action for one million dollars for breach of promise against Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, son of Harry Payne Whitney, was filed here today by attorneys for Evans Burrows Fontaine, a dancer.

The complaint briefly charges that Whitney began a courtship with Miss Fontaine on May 19, 1919, which continued Oct. 28, 1920, when the plaintiff asserts, he promised to marry her three days later, but failed to keep the promise. No details of the alleged courtship were given.

Dempsey vs. Brennan Match Now Assured

Chicago, Aug. 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey and Leo Flynn, manager of Bill Brennan, today posted forfeits of $10,000 each for the appearance of their men for a boxing contest at Floyd Fitzsimmons' arena in Michigan City, Ind., on Labor day. Fitzsimmons posted $20,000 as a guarantee and the fight, for several weeks, in the scheduled clash, thus was clinched.

WHITE VELVET.
White velvet evening gowns are promised for popularity this winter. Many are shown with trimmings of silver lace or silver embroidery, giving a certain glacial effect that is really charming.

Thinking of Tomorrow

Q If by some magic the curtain of the future might be drawn back and you could see life as it will be ten or twenty years from today—where would you be?

Q You know the answer. The men and women who will then have the most independence and influence in our community will be the ones who today think and plan most wisely for the tomorrows—and hold themselves ready to take advantage of every opportunity that comes.

Q Nothing will help you more, five or ten years from now, than the dollars you can save by starting today—and you can save best by getting some bank to co-operate with you. As members of the Federal Reserve Banking System we are prepared to co-operate with you in every way. Let us show you how to save and to make your money work for you.

SPORT BRIEFS

BOSTON—Nick Altrock of the Washington Americans, former star of the Chicago White Sox, was credited as winning pitcher in a game in which an all-star aggregation of American League players defeated the Boston Red Sox 3-2. Altrock pitched the last four innings. The game was played for the benefit of the family of the late Thomas F. McCarthy, former player.

NE WYOMING—Dave Rosenberg of Brooklyn was recognized by the New York State Boxing Commission as middleweight champion following his 15-round victory over Phil Krug of Harrison, N. J.

COLUMBUS, OHIO—Eddie O'Dowd, Columbus bantamweight, beat Pat Moore of Memphis in 12 rounds.

PITTSBURGH, PA.—Jim Barnes eliminated from the National Professional golf tournament, was charged $1 to see himself play when a gateman failed to recognize him and refused to pass him.

Regular Crews on Indiana Trains Took Coal the State Mined

Staunton, Ind., Aug. 14.—Eleven cars of coal loaded Saturday and Sunday under state supervision, and switched to the Pennsylvania main line by a guardsmen train crew, were taken away this morning by a regular train crew. Major General Tyndall had already a complete crew, made up of guardsmen, who were ready to handle the train into Terra Haute, but their services were not needed. Four more cars were loaded this morning.
